Glee Club Hits Road

Last Friday evening, February 1st, the St. Michael's College Glee Club, directed by Mr. William Tortolano, presented its first away concert of the year for the Mt. Mansfield Women's Club in Underhill. Accompanist for the Club was Thomas Corcoran.

Besides such serious pieces as the "Prisoner's Chorus" from Beethoven's opera "Fidelio," and, in the area of sacred music, Hasler's "Cantate Domino," the "Ave Verum" of and the Duet from Bach's "Cantata 125," the Glee Club presented a variety of lighter pieces to a small but appreciative audience.

Among these numbers were the "Pirate Song" from Bernstein's "Peter Pan," which highlighted Ed O'Brien as the villainous Captain Hook; a calypso number entitled "Marry a Woman Uglier than You" which featured John Donoghue, tenor; a spiritual, "If I Got My Ticket, Can I Ride?" with Albert Rose as soloist; a folk song, "The Turtle Dove," in which Pat Mahoney took the tenor solo; "Moonlight in Vermont;" "In the Still of the Night;" "Nothin' Like a Dame;" and "O Shenandoah," with John Cunningham as baritone soloist.

On Saturday, Feb. 16, the Glee Club will travel to Newport, Rhode Island, to present a joint concert with the Salve Regina College Glee Club, which is directed by C. Alexander Peloquin. On the following day the Glee Club will present a program for St. Edmund's Novitiate in Mystic, Connecticut at New London, Conn.

The program for the Newport concert is as follows:

1. Salve Regina College Glee Club
2. Salve Regina and St. Micheal's Glee Clubs -- "La Belle Helene" by Offenbach
3. St. Michael's College Glee Club

Duet from Cantata 125 - J.S. Bach
Au Cabaret - French-Canadian
The Turtle Dove - Vaughn Williams
Tenor Solo: Patrick Mahoney
Marry a Woman Uglier than You - Trinidad Calpyso
Tenor Solo - Joseph Corbett
Prisoner's Chorus from Fidelio - Beethoven
Tenor Solo: John Donoghue
Bass Solo: John Fanelli
Nuthin Like a Dame - Rodgers

4. Salve Regina and St. Micheal's Glee Clubs
Liebeslieders Walzer Op. 52 - Brahms
1. #6 Ein kleiner hubscher Vogel nahm.
2. #9 Am Donaustrande
3. #11 Nein es ist nicht auszukommen mit den Leuten.

Pianists: Thomas Corcoran, Robert Armstrong

Crown And Sword Opens Ranks To Class Of '65

The induction committee of the Crown and Sword Society announced this week that it will initiate preliminary procedures for the induction of Sophomores into the Society.

Traditionally, Senior members of the Society leave their positions in mid-March, creating 15 vacancies to be filled by members of the Sophomore class.

James De Biasio, chairman of the induction committee , has scheduled a smoker on Monday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Alumni Basement Lounge. The smoker is open to all members of the Sophomore class, and its primary objective will be to acquaint those attending with Crown and Sword admission proceedures, and the duties of a Crown and Sword member.

It was also announced that applications for admission may be submitted to De Biasio, Joyce Hall 157, from Feb. 12 through 19. The only requirements necessary for submitting an application is that the individual be a member of the Class of 1965, and have a cumulative average of 75 or above as of the last semester.

The letter of application should have the following format:

1. It must be typed in duplicate (carbon copy) in the form of a business letter, and presented in a sealed envelope.

2. In the upper right hand corner must appear your name, campus address, and telephone extension.

3. A brief, but concise personal history, including interests and hobbies.

4. Description of your co-curricular and extracurricular activities, and your reasons for participating in these organizations.

5. Why are you interested in Crown and Sword membership, and what can you add to the society?

6. What activities of the Crown and Sword Society interest you most?

An interview will be granted on the merits of the individual applicant as presented in the letter, and not on a competitive basis.

Any questions concerning the application or admission proceedures will be answered in a question period which will follow the smoker on Feb. 11th.

FORTY HOURS DEVOTIONS will begin Feb. 18. Contact your Floor Captain for adoration hours.

Debaters Face Harvard, Other Circuit Powers

by Joseph L'Herault

The weekend of Feb. I saw the St. Michael's Newman Debate Society at Harvard for the university's Tenth Annual Invitational Forensic Tournament.

The competition faced by Ron Atwater and Joe Miller who debated for St. Michael's was the most formidable this school has met at any tournament during the season.

During the eight rounds of gruelling debate, St. Michael's was pitted against such circuit powers as Holy Cross, Princeton, Harvard, Notre Dame and Northwestern. It is customary procedure at a tournament of this size to conduct the debates on a power basis i.e., pairing winners with winners and losers with losers so that a high level of competition is maintained right up to the final round.

The lack of this type of organization proved fatal to some of the smaller teams at Harvard. The disparity of competition that existed in many of the debates is evidenced by the fact that four teams emerged with 8 - 0 records, indicating of course that these teams had not met one another in any of the eight rounds of scheduled debate.

Accompanying Atwater and Miller was Dr. Frank Morriss, associate editor of the Vermont Catholic Tribune and assistant coach of debate. Thomas Roney and Joe L'Herault observed some of the major clashes at the tournament and gathered valuable material to aid in the formulation of new cases for the coming meets.

Friday evening after the seventh round, social activities commenced with a Sherry Hour, followed by the main banquet at which extemporaneous speaking awards were announced and guest speaker, Al Capp, addressed the assembly.

No information concerning individual team averages was available at the close of the tournament and so results will be sent through the mail.

NEW CASES

Recent developments in the common market situation have forced radical retrenchments in the standard cases of many colleges and universities across the country. New possibilities for attack and defense have been opened up and it is the consensus around the debate circuit that the next two stategic months of debate before the Regionals will provide many startling new cases.

This is an unusual circumstance in debate, for things at this advanced stage of the season are generally cyrstallized and debaters rely more heavily on delivery and rhetorical technique than the surprise element of springing an unprecedented plan.

Mixer On Tues. All Welcome

The students of St. Michael's College and the faculty members will extend a cordial welcome to the newly-arrived foreign students on campus

The reception will take place in Alliot Hall Lounge, Tuesday, Feb. 12, from 4 to 5 p.m. Refeshments will be served.

The "coffee hour", with its informal atmosphere, lends itself ideally to the social and exchange of mutual benefit to all who attend.

The mixer is intended, besides fomenting friendship, to break down barriers of race, color, religion and nationality.

The 45 foreign students learning English at St. Michael's hail from some 25 different countries.

Winter Weekend is here. After being discontinued for several years, it returns to the Hilltop in a moderate basis. The committee in charge of the activities should be praised for its efforts in providing the student body with an inexpensive but varied and entertaining week end.

Not only will the campus be enlivened with the pretty members of the opposite sex, but also top skiers from 12 Eastern Colleges and Universities are on campus participating in the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association Class B Championship.

To all we extend our most sincere welcome and hope you have a most enjoyable and successful weekend at St. Michael's. We hope your visit will be repeated in the future.

The office of the Dean of Studies released Tuesday an official notice concerning absence from class. According to the statement, any class absence on Saturdays will be considered double absence.

The statement further asserts that "students absent from class without excuse are subject to dismissal from class with the final grade of F". The official college Bulletin adds a phrase to the above sentence, "for excessive absences."

We feel that this point of the number of absences should be clarified and a maximum number of absences be established before action is taken against a student for class absence.

Without an established limit, different teachers might have different notions as to what are excessive cuts and the double absence for Saturdays loses some of its effect.

* * * * * * * * * * * * *

With the demonstrations that have recently been staged on campus, and the revealing letters to the editor we have received, we would like to remind the student body of one of your rights at the Student Forum meetings.

According to the Constitution, any student may attend the weekly meetings and may introduce a motion. The proper procedure to address the Forum is to see the Parliamentarian before the meeting to file the motion with him. You must obtain permission from any Forum member to have him yield his seat to you when it is time to present your motion.

This opportunity is seldom being used, especially when it is concerned with complaints. You are reminded that you may voice your opinion or complaint with the Student Forum itself.

FROM THE LILLY PAD

by Bob Lilly

Sunday night the Music Department presented the comic opera "La Serva Padronna" by Pergolesi. A large number of townspeople attended as well as a few students.

The week before the Bishop of Burlington gave an enlightening talk on the Vatican Council to a small scattering of students. There have been numerous other occasions in the past, also poorly attended by the students. This seems a shame because many of these talks, concerts, etc. fit in very well with the Humanities courses on campus and much profit could be gained simply for this purpose. Since they are free one has no excuse when he says that he can't afford it and since they are on campus one can't honestly say that it is too far to walk to. There are, of course, those students who deprive themselves in order to study but on further investigation it seems that a little rescheduling could permit attendance. The attendance so far seems to show that the majority of the student body is either aloof to these functions or below the level of comprehension to intelligently understand them. Or maybe it's simply a matter of fearing change or learning.

Congratulations to Al Auclair on voicing the opinion of the Class of '63 in last week's letter to the editor. Thanks also for the much needed praise of the work of Mr. Donohue.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Wenceslaus Kilama in last week's Michaelman suggested that an international organization on campus would help further understanding betwen U.S. students and those from other nations.

Indeed such an organization should exist, for here there is an excellent opportunity for intercourse among those which are not only unfamiliar to us, but in many cases completely unknown. Ask yourself why communication does not exist. Could it be a fear, a dislike of the unknown?

In many instances the answer, I am sure will be yes.

If an international organization were formed, again I am sure that a knowledge, an insight into the customs, the institutions, the culture, the nature of the others would shatter our completely unfounded preconceptions we have of them, the unknown.

An international organization would not only help the non-Americans to understand us, but lessen our own ignorance. We need an international organization at St. Michael's not so much for the foreign students as for ourselves.

James F. Graham

To the Editor,

The K of C are sorry if we have hurt the feelings of Mr. Kevin St. John. But we feel that he acted out of haste and in doing so, did not inform himself correctly. In this light, the K of C would just like to state certain facts to clear up the situation.

1. The Knights of Columbus alone sponsored Dr. O'Brien's lecture.

2. In all our publicity for the lecture we never made mention of any refreshments.

3. The K of C clubrooms are open only to the members of the order and all food is paid for by the members alone.

4. The K of C is a Fraternal Organization and therefore is a type of "Clique" and shall continue to be such. If Mr. St. John wishes to find out more about our organization I note that our new membership drive will begin in a couple of weeks.

If any student feels such a great need for refreshment after lectures, we hope that he will put in such a request to the Student Forum.

Excessive Absences

Saint Michael's College operates its classes on the policy that "Every class and every laboratory is important, and students are expected to be in attendance at every one."

Students absent from class without excuse are subject to dismissal from class with final grade of F. For full statement of policy see College Bulletin, pp. 26 & 27.

No student may presume that his absence from class is excused unless his professor excuses him. The Dean does not excuse anyone from class.

This means:

a) Each student is responsible to his professor for class attendance.
b) He is delinquent unless the professor has specifically excused him on presentation of reasonable excuse.
c) Team and club participation, necessitating absence from campus, is provided for by the team moderator who sends to the Dean the list of participants. On the Dean's approval the list is posted on the faculty bulletin board. Only those students whose names appear on the list are excused, and they only for the day of absence from campus.

NO SATURDAY UNTIL THE EASTER HOLIDAY
(except February 23) IS A HOLIDAY.

It is herewith promulgated that any class absence on Saturdays: February 9 & 16, March 2, 9, 16, 23, 30, April 6, will be considered double absence. Ignorance of this ruling will not be considered excuse from penalties.

Paul Morin, S.S.E., Dean

Performances Prove Superb

by Thomas Corcoran

What must have rightly required long hours of rehearsing resulted in a top performance in St. Michael's College Theater Sunday evening.

In the presentation of Giovanni Pergolesi's celebrated comic-opera "La Serva Padrona" (The Maid-Mistress), the Music Department proved that there can be found here in Vermont a performance of professional stature.

Under Mr. William Tortolano's direction an animated spirit was initiated in the opening orchestral passage -- a lively atmosphere which survived, with very few wearisome moments, to the final duet "A Tiny Bell is Ringing."

In portraying Serpina, the female lead, Mrs. Martha Tortolano gave evidence of a technical proficiency to which she added a convincing stage presence. Every facial expression and gesture augmented her presentation. Her apparent security and ease with her part produced a corresponding mood of relaxation and enjoyment in the listeners.

Playing opposite Mrs. Tortolano was her former voice teacher, Mr. Bernard Barbeau. Mr. Barbeau teaches voice at the New England Conservatory of Music and The Perkins Institute. As Uberto, the object of Serpina's plotting affections, he fought a losing battle. With only a hint of reluctance he eventually conceded emerging as a "hooked man." Backed by an accommodating orchestra which kept the soloist foremost in mind, Mr. Barbeau rendered a quite adequate showing.

The element of humor was well assured of success in the hands of Mr. J. Edward Dery, St. Michael's Senior and an officer in the College Glee Club. On his part as Vespone, the simple-minded servant, hinged a good portion of the comedy of the opera. On stage for a major portion of the opera, Vespone never sang or spoke. Although limited to character acting, Mr. Dery in a seemingly effortless manner proceeded to bring the house down. Clever staging and lighting effects cinched a successful performance.

In looking over the good number of Michaelmen in Sunday evening's audience we conclude that the college has discovered a worthwhile thing in the Concert Series.

STUDENT FORUM

by Bill Eagan

This week's meeting of the Student Forum was a rarity compared to some of the recent meetings. The entire meeting was short and to the point. As usual the Student Welfare Committee was the center of interest of the meeting.

Mr. Ed Olander asked that the Welfare Committee investigate the sound system in Alliot Hall, also that it be used during the dinner hour. Considerable money has been spent on this system, he said, and it should be put to better use, if it works. Mr. Olander also asked the Committee to look into the possibility of having college signs placed on the new Interstate system in order to aid visitors in finding the school.

Mr. Phil Rice moved that the Welfare Committee look into the possibility of having lights placed at the new hockey rink. The motion was passed without dissent. Since hockey seems to be gaining in popularity on campus, this seemed like a good idea.

The procuring of graduate school catalogues was the subject of a motion by Mr. Tom McHale. He requested that the Forum appropriate fifty dollars to cover the expenses. The motion was passed.

The sophomore class president Mr. Bill O'Connell asked that the class be given permission to sponsor a bus trip for skiing to Underhill. He originally asked for two dates, but one of them was dropped due to a conflict with the lecture series. The remaining date was approved by the Forum.

Carnegie Study Lauded

by John Tracy

Wednesday night, January 30, Msgr. John Lynch, Superintendent of the Vermont Diocesan Schools, spoke before the Education Club. His topic concerned the Carnegie Foundation's important contribution to Catholic education.

The Carnegie Foundation has commenced a 10 year pilot study centered at Notre Dame College and covering twelve dioceses in the United States at a cost of $350,000.

The study seeks to evaluate the Catholic Elementary and Secondary School contribution to Education and provide a true profile of the Catholic teaching system. That both religious and lay teachers do not know the purposes of Catholic education was a significant comment of Msgr. Lynch.

People, both Christian and non-Christian, sadly lack information on our contribution to their lives was shown last year he said, in Congress. No adequate information stood available to aid in the debate for Federal aid to parochial schools.

The Foundation is seeking to be unbiased. The Program is being directed by Dr. Shuster with three advisors who are in turn coordinating their efforts with an episcopal representative. Both the good and bad aspects of the educational system will be made public with recommendations of the worth and feasibility for continuing operation. April 1 will show the completion of this study's first phase, appropriately in time for Congressional presentation.

Msgr. Lynch pointed to the fact that Catholics are aware of a lack of unity in their educational system and this Carnegie Foundation study will fill this gap. It will serve as an architectual print for Catholic teachers, Christians and basic uniformity among parochial schools.

REVIEWS

THE QUEST

by Jack M. Howe

By the time you read this article you may, and then again you may not, have had the chance to read the current issue of The Quest.

If you have not had such an opportunity, or if you have abused it by a mere perusal of some of the works that our literary magazine has put into print, I suggest that you take a copy of the magazine in question and read through it carefully, that is, as soon as you have finished reading this little review.

The table of contents will reveal a host of unusual titles that serve to identify the essays, short stories, poems and the play you will find in the forthcoming pages. Much more of the magazine is devoted to prose than to poetry and there are more short stories than there are essays, but it is all good reading.

The essays are organized, lucid and well written. Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Collins provide us with much food for thought in their respective disertations on hypocrisy and unity. If they serve no purpose than to bring the reader to the startling realization that there are more suitable subjects for meditation besides the various methods of cutting a pre-holiday class and remaining academically secure, then these essays are worthwhile literature.

We cannot presume to deal with each of the works found in The Quest and do them justice, so we shall concern ourselves with a representative composition from the poetry and short stories as well as with the one act play in the magazine.

"Life", a poem by John Keenan is a short poetical work on just that subject. Mr. Keenan speaks of life as a "wooden sliver and a silver spark" that turns to ash after a short burst of flame. Through this metaphor he manages to impress upon us how transient human existence is in comparison to eternity. The same thesis has been adopted by others but many have not expressed it so clearly as Mr. Keenan has. Although lacking meter and rhyme scheme, it does have a natural rhythm that carries us easily along from one stanza to the next until we reach the last line and the reminder that we return to the dust from which we were made. May he rest in peace.

The short stories you will find in The Quest are all well executed making the task of selecting a representative piece quite difficult. However, "Heart of God" by Mr. Kirk Weixel has succeeded in illustrating to us an all too frequent flaw of women, as well as man. He holds our attention, thus accomplishing his purpose, through the element of suspense he maintains with his tarantula. For additional reading enjoyment I strongly suggest you read the other captivating stories in your little volume.

The short one act play by Mr. Robert Rinaldi, entitled "The Manipulator" has been very cleverly conceived and is even more cleverly executed. In a few short lines of dialogue, he has presented easily recognizable facets and faults of human nature, and the danger they present to us. "The Manipulator" shows how easily men can be guided, or rather misguided, when they allow their emotions to direct their actions.

In summary, The Quest offers us most absorbing literature that in every instance, in one way or another, manages to instruct us. These writings are didactic and informative. They reiterate lessons that we all too soon seem to forget. This is all well and good.

Unfortunately, though, there are no humorous writings to be found in The Quest. It seems that this criticism has been made before but the fault does not lie with Mr. Gore, the moderator of The Quest or with its editor Mr. DeBiasio. Rather, I think it lies with the students who have not contributed something along this line suitable for publication.

If you would like a chuckle or two in the next edition, we would be well advised to take pen in hand and submit a few lines to the editors.

THE SCIENTIFIC

by Mike Battenfeld

Last week, Volume IV, Number 1 of the ST. MICHAEL'S SCIENTIFIC, the joint publication of the Pre-medical and Chemical Societies, made its appearance on campus. Clad in a new and attractive cover, the magazine presented articles of scientific interest to the entire student body by students and a faculty member, and continued with its series of articles on vocations in scientific fields.

Perhaps the highpoint of the issue was the article entitled "An Artist Looks at Science," by Dr. Fairbanks, an interesting study of the author Hawthorne's attitude toward the science of his day. The other non-student article, "Veterinary Medicine as a Career," by Dr. Lloyd J. Sanders, D.V.M., was another in the series aimed at presenting to the science concentrator a guide into the many career fields open to him.

One article caught this reviewer's attention immediately, and should be marked out for special praise, and that is "The Medicine of Hippocrates, by William Murphy. Aside from the author's literary dexterity, it gave the reader an excellent Cooke's tour of the myth-shrouded labyrinth of Greek medicine. Only a rather scanty bibliography marred its total effect.

"Molecules of Life," by William A. Alter III, the cover story, on DNA, which cleared up the vague suspicion that the cover photo was borrowed from Walt Disney, was reasonably well-written, informative, but, perhaps, in light of all recent research done on the subject and the publicity thereof, just a little inadequate.

Not brief or scanty by any means was the article "The Neutrino," by Paul Harper (who is, incidently, the editor-in-chief). The subject seemed to be adequately researched, and the article, itself, was well-written, and, if one plunged on to end, very informative.

Of the other articles, it should be noted that all were reasonably well-done, although, at times, English composition seemed to take second place to scientific fact. Whatever their minor failings, however, considering the paucity of creative effort here on campus, these student contributors should be praised for their positive contribution to campus life in general.

Praise, Prize For ROTC At Malone

Members of the AFROTC Drill Team and Air Police Squadron participated in the annual Malone Winter Carnival at Malone, New York. Of the 63 units that participated in the parade, 3 awards were presented to the best float, band and marching unit. SMC Students won the marching award over a variety of other organizations including units from other colleges.

While in Malone our students were lodged Saturday Night at the homes of Malone citizens. Their hosts and hostesses had only the most favorable comments regarding the cadet's performance and personal conduct.

The next competition the Cadets will experience is the annual New England Drill Competition. The Drill Team has won that competition for the past five years and are working hard at frequent practice sessions to make an excellent showing again this spring.

THEN WHAT?"

Well, now it's a question of finding the right organization. Like the Bell System. All Bell System management comes up through the ranks. And since one of the chief prerequisites of management is a strong educational background, we're continually searching for imaginative, forward-thinking men. You'll start in management with advancement dependent upon your ability. And the Bell System is synonymous with job satisfaction, because of the importance of the job you'll do, and your potential to do it well — either as a technical or non-technical graduate.

If you think your degree offers you the base for a rewarding career in our management and if you're in the upper half of your class, then come talk with us when we interview. Make an appointment at your placement office now.

Applicants will be interviewed for all regional operating companies in the United States and Canada.

Sophomores Win Intramural Hoop Title

by Tony Natale

The Juniors, paced by Chuck Rogers' 19 points, defeated the Seniors by a score of 48-41. The Seniors who needed a win to stay in contention for the second round were just about eliminated. The Juniors who had no chance of getting into the two team playoff had revenge in their minds and they succeeded in getting it.

For the first half of the ball game both clubs battled on even terms without either one able to gain an advantage. The first half which was hardly fought ended in a 18-18 tie.

The second half was a completely different story as the Juniors took complete command of the game and they were able to pull away.

As mentioned above, Chuck Rodgers had 19 points and he was leading scorer. Pacing the Seniors were Gerry O'Neil with 15 and Joe Morgan with 14.

* * * * * *

The Sophomores, under new coach Mike Tranghese, won the second round title by defeating their chief opponent, the Seniors, by a score of 54-49.

The Sophomores who had no intentions of being upended jumped off into a commanding 10 point lead and they gradually extended their lead to fourteen points by halftime.

The Seniors at the start of the second half made a determined bid to get back into the game, but the Sophs were wise to the so called upcoming trouble. Eventually the Seniors started to get hot but it was to late and the Sophomores were able to hang on for the victory.

Leading the Sophomores in the scoring column was Mike Hadlock with 11 and he was followed by Mark Peacock, Joe Kliminski, and Frank McKevitt who had 10 points apiece.

Leading the Seniors was Jim Dyer with 17 and he was followed by Gerry O'Neil who had 14.

The Juniors who for the second straight game were out to gain revenge did just that by defeating the ever improving Sophomores by a score of 48-45 in a wild affair.

The Juniors wasted no time as they jumped into a quick 10 point lead only to have the second year men come back to within 4 points at the close of the initial half.

The Sophomores came back strong in the second half to take a temporary lead but the Juniors came back and pulled out into a comfortable seven point lead with but two minutes remaining.

Individual stars and leading scorers for the ball game were the Juniors Dick Endrelunas and the Sophomores John Goodrow who battled furiously off of the backboards. Goodrow led all scorers with 23 and the Junior center had 19 points.

The Sophomores paced by the fine individual efforts of Mike Hadlock and John Goodrew defeated the Seniors 73-64 in the intramural basketball league championship. This marked the third straight time that the Sophomores defeated the Seniors.

This was as exciting as any game played in the league during the year. Both teams battled furiously off of the backboards with the Sophomores' height being the decisive factor in the win.

At the start of the game it was evident that the Seniors were a fired up crew as they jumped off to a quick six point lead but the Sophomores who were being thoroughly outplayed managed to hang on. It was a very well played half in which both teams displayed fine offenses. When the first half did end, the Seniors had a slim two point lead. In this half, were it not for Mike Hadlock's 15 points, the Sophs would have been deep in the hole.

The second half started like a bang as the Sophomores fired in a quick five points to take over the lead which they never relinquished throughout the remainder of the half. With about three minutes remaining in the contest, the Sophs had a two point lead which the Seniors were seriously threatening but then, baskets by Tom Edwards and John Goodrow iced the ball game.

High point man for the Sophomores and for the ballgame was Mike Hadlock. Fellow Soph John Goodrow had 19. Leading the Senior cause was Dick Powers who had 20 points.

Skiers Finish Third, Play Host To Ski Meet

The St. Michael's College varsity ski team finished third at the Paul Smith College meet Saturday and Sunday. The Syracuse team was first, followed by Cornell.

St. Michael's accumulated a total of 353.7 points while Syracuse earned 370.7 and Cornell 361.5 points.

"Pat" Fitzsimmons had the best performance by an individual Michaelman. One of Fitzsimmons' jumps from the 25 meter jump was 64 feet, the longest for the day. Roger Weismann of Cornell was credited with the same number of points as Fitzsimmons. Weismann's best jump was 63 feet.

As a team, St. Michael's finished in a tie for first in jumping, second in the slalom and fifth in the downhill. In the cross-country event, brothers Jim and Frank Geier finished eighth and sixth respectively, competing against 30 other skiers.

The St. Michael's team was composed of Fitzsimmons, the Geier brothers, Greg McClallen, Dick Tero, Herb Smith, Peter Sheehan and Dennis Haggerty.

Other schools represented in the nine-team meet were West Point, Paul Smith, Buffalo, Colgate, and second teams from Syracuse and Paul Smith.

St. Michael's will again host the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association Class B championship Feb. 9 and 10.

With the copious snow that has fallen in Vermont during the last two weeks, excellent skiing conditions are expected for the Eastern intercollegiate Ski Association class B Championship.

St. Michael's College is playing host to the championship meet Feb. 9 and 10. The four events in the meet have been scheduled for St. Michael's and Stowe with two events at each place.

A record number of colleges and universities, 13 in all, will be represented at the meet which returns to St. Michael's after being held at Colby last year.

The championship competition will start Saturday at 9:30 a.m. with the slalom at Spruce Slopes, Stowe. The cross-country is scheduled for Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at St. Michael's.

Sunday morning at 9, the skiers will start jumping at the newly-improved ski jump at St. Michael's. They will travel to Smugglers Trail at Spruce Peak, Stowe in the afternoon to end the meet with the downhill event at 2:30.

Besides St. Michael's, the other competing colleges are Bowdoin, Carleton (Ottawa), Clarkson, Colby, Colgate, Cornell, McGill (Montreal) Maine, Syracuse, University of Vermont, West Point and Yale.

The top two teams in the Class B Championship move into the A division and will compete at the Class A Championship to be held at Middlebury, Feb. 22 and 23.

The meet will be one of the features of the SMC Winter Weekend.

West Point and Maine were the first two teams to arrive for the meet. They arrived Thursday and started to practice at the 25 meter ski jump.

The St. Michael's ski jump facilities underwent a thorough reconditioning during the fall. The landing area has been smoothed and widened and the run-off area, enlarged.

Representing St. Michael's College in the Nordic events, jumping and cross country, will be Colin "Pat" Fitzsimmons, brothers Jim and Frank Geier, and Dick Tero.

St. Michael's Alpine team will be composed of Greg McClallen, Bill Haggerty, Pete Sheehan and Herb Smith.

Riflers Shoot

The Saint Michael's College varsity rifle team shoots its last scheduled match Friday night at the Ryan Hall range against Harvard. The match is scheduled for 7.

The Knights will enter the match with a 4-5 season record. In their last encounter, Jan. 12 against MIT, St. Mike's lost in a postal match. This will be the first time St. Michael's and Harvard will ever shoot face to face.

T. Sgt. Dwinal M. Deeves, rifle team coach, has announced the names of Michaelman shooters for Friday's match.

They are Harry C. Haarup (captain), John Cassella, David Gravel, Robert Hladick, Blaise McArdle, Ed Woods, Paul Rodhouse, Dave Samson, Fred Speckles and James Whitman.

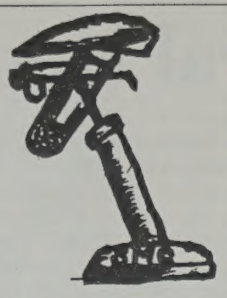
The Michaelman's Mike



by Mike Tranghese

To go with a winner is an easy task but to stand firm and hopeful behind a loser is the task of a faithful fan and rooter. This is the case right here at Saint Michael's. The Purple Knights were defeated by Assumption and UVM this past week and the chances of the ball club gaining a berth in the regionals were hurt greatly. Up until this point you, the student body, and the backbone of the team, had supported the team in a fine manner but now the test of a true fan has arrived. Can you the students of Saint Michael's College back a team that has lost?

The answer to the above mentioned question is of the upmost importance for your backing is necessary in order for the team to be able to maintain its momentum. Further, the student body should not be tabbed as winners like our rivals from across the river. This is the problem and these are the questions that you alone can answer.

To say that the team's chances of gaining an entrance into the regionals was not hurt by the losses to Assumption and UVM would be facing the situation unrealistically. Indeed our chances were hurt but they were not ended.

That is right, "THEY WERE NOT ENDED".

Doc Jacobs and the ballclub realize this and they are well prepared to go all out and gain a berth, so the least you can do is to support them.

In looking at the situation of the regionals, Saint Michael's is still in contention for the final berth. Right now it looks as if Northeastern and Assumption along with the winner of the Tri-State league have just about sewed up berths but there is still one important spot to be filled. Springfield College looms as our greatest opposition but with a prolonged streak along with a few key losses by Springfield, we should be able to gain entrance into the regionals.

The ball club is not about to relinquish its hopes of gaining entrance into the tournament and their spirit and desire is at a point where it is willing to do anything to attain its goal. They realize that they must start a prolonged winning streak, perhaps even stretching to the end of the year.

This is the task that our team is about to start on and you as students should rise to the occasion in supporting them. As I have said, it's easy to back a winner but now let us go out and prove our loyalty to this team and on Saturday night against Stonehill let us demonstrate our enthusiasm and confidence in the ball club as if we were national champions.

Knights Host Stonehill

The University of Vermont paced by the fine individual performances of Benny Becton and Jack Shabel defeated the St. Michael's College basketball team Wednesday 90-77. The game which was played in the luxurious Vermont gym was witnessed by a capacity crowd that was anticipating a close struggle.

St. Michael's jumped off into a quick 6-3 lead but from then on it was all UVM as the Catamounts just could not miss. They left the hardcourt with a 43-31 lead. At this point both Becton and Shabel had 14 points apiece.

The second half opened with two St. Michael's hoops, but this was as far as they went. The Catamounts caught fire once again and pulled into a comfortable lead. With ten minutes remaining the Knights' cause was even dimmed more by the fouling out of Walt Baumann the Knights' top rebounder and scorer. The last ten minutes were just routine as both coaches cleared their benches.

High scorer for UVM and for the ballgame was Jack Shabel with 29 followed by Benny Becton with 22. High scorer for St. Michael's was Richie Tarrant with 19. Walt Baumann had 18.

In the preliminary game, the St. Michael's Squires were outscored by the Vermont frosh, 66-58.

Phil Taylor was high scorer for St. Michael's and the game with 27 points.

Not Enough

The St. Michael's College basketball team's determined bid to overhaul a huge Assumption lead fell short as the Saints were defeated 68-62. The game which took place on Saturday, Feb. 2, was played before a full house at Worcester.

The Purple jumped off into a quick 7-2 only to have Assumption come back and tie it up at 17 apiece midway through the first half. The Greyhounds then began to wield hot hands as St. Michael's was unable to find the hoop. In the last 10 minutes of the opening half the Knights were able to score but one field goal and this was the main reason why the Saints left the floor at halftime with the score 32-21 in favor of Assumption.

The first five minutes of the second half had no help in sight for St. Michael's as Assumption extended its lead to as much as 19 points.

At this point the fireworks began. The Saints with determination and aggressiveness as their formula hustled all over the Worcester Trade gymnasium and were able to cut the Assumption lead to 9 points with about seven minutes remaining. Then play started getting rough and the Purple were able to capitalize on some Greyhound mistakes and finally they cut the deficit to four points with 40 seconds remaining. St. Michael's then was unable to connect and Assumption took possession and scored a last second hoop to secure themselves a hard earned win.

Leading all scorers for the evening was Walt Baumann with 20 points and his teammate Ed McDonnell was the second Purple scorer with 14. We outscored Assumption from the floor but lost it at the foul line.

Leading Assumption in the scoring parade was Jim Monahan with 20 and he was followed by Steve Warner with 17. The most outstanding performer for the evening was Assumption's Bill Jenkins who had 11 points, pulled down 19 rebounds and played a superb defensive ballgame.

Upcoming

St. Michael's College basketball team has three important games coming up this week. The first opponent to invade the auditorium is a relative newcomer to the schedule.

This team is Stonehill College located in North Easton, Mass. Stonehill is a young fine ball club that has played some fine basketball throughout the year. Their best showings of the year have been a 19 point victory over Adelphi and a slim 1 point loss to Assumption at Assumption.

The second team to make an appearance in the Auditorium does not have to be described. They are our friends from the other side of town, the University of Vermont Catamounts. The Vermonters who have not had a successful season so far are pointing towards us and as they have proven a few times in the past, they are capable of causing trouble. UVM is led by Benny Becton and Jack Shabel and these two seniors will be seeking revenge for last year's two defeats.

The final team to be entertained in the Auditorium is AIC from Springfield, Mass. A.I.C. is sporting a not so hot 2-12 record but at times they have played fine basketball. The only common opponents that A.I.C. and St. Michael's have had this year are Holy Cross, Assumption and St. Anselms. The Springfield-lites dropped a seven point decision to St. A's, an overtime decision to Assumption and the Crusaders from Holy Cross trounced them by 18 points.
